The Funds are actively managed by DJE and, where a benchmark index is indicated, without reference to it. The presented charts and tables concerning performance are based on our own calculations according to the gross performance (BVI) method² and illustrate past development. Past performance is not indicative for future returns. The BVI method takes into account all costs incurred at the fund level (e.g. management fees), the net performance and the issue fee. Additional individual costs may be incurred at the customer level (e.g. custodian fees, commission and other charges). Model calculation (net): an investor wishes to purchase shares for Euro 1,000. With a maximum issue surcharge of 5.00%, he has to spend a one-off amount of Euro 50.00 when making the purchase. In addition, there may be custodian costs that reduce performance. The custodian costs are decided by your bank's price list and service charges

MONTHLY COMMENTARY

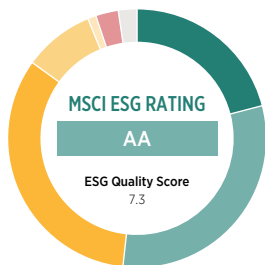

In March, the equity markets largely continued their bullish trend from the previous months. The rise on the stock markets in the first quarter was driven by good or improving economic data, which turned out better than widely expected. These included continued solid figures from the US labour market, an improving purchasing managers' index for services in the eurozone and fiscal stimulus in China, which should help to achieve the growth target. This turned the initial fears of recession into hope that a soft landing in the major economic regions was still possible. In this market environment, the DJE - Dividende & Substanz gained 3.59%. All sectors of the MSCI World global equity index performed well in March. The energy, financial institutions and basic materials sectors achieved particularly high gains. The lowest gains came from the Consumer Goods & Services, Travel & Leisure and Automotive sectors. The fund management left the sector allocation virtually unchanged compared to the previous month. The only notable exception was the reduction in the healthcare sector. The fund's investment ratio fell from 100.13% to 98.88%, with a corresponding liquidity ratio of 1.12%.

DJE - DIVIDENDE & SUBSTANZ P (EUR)

INVESTMENT APPROACH

High-dividend stocks are a source of recurring income, but their importance is often underestimated. In the long term, dividends often make the biggest contribution to stock portfolio performance, as reinvested dividends facilitate the compounding effect. This is why stocks with above-average dividend yields are the focus of the DJE - Dividende & Substanz fund. When selecting high dividend stocks, a stable, increasing dividend payment is more important than the absolute level of the current dividend yield. Historical data shows that high-dividend stocks can be more stable in difficult market phases relative to low-dividend stocks. Hence, dividends can act as a buffer to mitigate temporary capital losses. This is mainly because stable businesses with strong balance sheets and high dividend yields as well as protective entry barriers to their markets and products increase the chance of long-term investment success. The stock selection of the portfolio aims for an above-average dividend yield relative to the broader market; however, the fund may also invest in equities that do not currently pay a dividend.
