DJE - Asien invests primarily in solid companies with promising growth prospects in the Asia-Pacific region. The fund management seeks to identify investments with attractive valuations and shareholder-friendly corporate policies such as capital returns and share buybacks (total shareholder return). The fund allocation is independent from market benchmark and uses decades of experience and in-depth Asian expertise of DJE research team to deliver a positive performance.

The Funds are actively managed by DJE and, where a benchmark index is indicated, without reference to it. The presented charts and tables concerning performance are based on our own calculations according to the gross performance (BVI) method² and illustrate past development. Past performance is not indicative for future returns. The BVI method takes into account all costs incurred at the fund level (e.g. management fees), the net performance and the issue fee. Additional individual costs may be incurred at the customer level (e.g. custodian fees, commission and other charges). Model calculation (net): an investor wishes to purchase shares for Euro 1,000. With a maximum issue surcharge of 0.00% , he has to spend a one-off amount of Euro 0.00 when making the purchase. In addition, there may be custodian costs that reduce performance. The custodian costs are decided by your bank's price list and service charges

ESG Rating What it means

AAA, AA	Leader: The companies that the fund invests in show strong and/or improving management of financially relevant environmental, social and governance issues. These companies may be more resilient to disruptions arising from ESG events.
A, BBB, BB	Average: The fund invests in companies that show average management of ESG issues, or in a mix of companies with both above-average and below-average ESG risk management.
B, CCC	Laggard: The fund is exposed to companies that do not demonstrate adequate management of the ESG risks that they face, or show worsening management of these issues. These companies may be more vulnerable to disruptions arising from ESG events.
Not Rated	Companies in the fund's portfolio that are not yet rated by MSCI, but these are rated as part of our own analysis.

Investment Approach

DJE - Asien invests primarily in companies with attractive and promising business models from the Asia-Pacific region. The RCEP free trade zone (Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership), which was established in 2020, is the largest in the world in terms of its share of global GDP and is expected to contribute to the region's dynamic growth (see chart). The fund allocation is based on our proprietary fundamental top-down (FMM methodology) and bottom-up analysis. We believe that the combination of global macroeconomic analysis along with bottom-up security selection is essential to balance opportunities and risks. The focus of the fund is companies with attractive revenue and earnings growth, stable earnings, potential for innovation and a leading competitive position. The fund management allocates across regions, countries, and sectors of the Asian economic area, independent from any market benchmarks.

Opportunities

- + Excellent demographic developments make long-term growth in investments in Asia possible
- + The conditions for expansion in many Asian domestic economies, such as China, continue to exist
- + Traditionally higher dividend payments mean that the fund can take advantage of the compounding effect of reinvested dividends

Risks

- Equity prices may exhibit relatively strong fluctuations depending on market conditions
- Currency risks resulting from a high proportion of foreign investments
- Issuer country and credit risks

Monthly Commentary

The Asian stock markets performed largely positively in June. The markets in Taiwan, India, South Korea and Japan, among others, performed favourably. On the other hand, the stock markets in Shanghai and Hong Kong were particularly disappointing. Growth in China could stabilise and gain some momentum. This is indicated by a moderate increase in retail sales and continued stable investment growth. Expectations are pinned on the so-called "Third Plenum" of the Communist Party in July, which usually focuses on economic targets, possible structural reforms and measures. Against this backdrop, the DJE - Asien rose by 1.89%. The sub-sectors of the Asian investment region performed positively for the most part. The industrials sector (overweighted in the fund), consumer staples (underweighted in the fund) and utilities (underweighted in the fund) performed best in relative terms. The sectors that performed worst in relative terms were healthcare (underweighted in the fund), telecommunications (underweighted in the fund) and technology (underweighted in the fund). Overall, the sector weighting had a negative impact on the fund's price performance compared to the benchmark index. At individual stock level, the highest performance contributions came from the positions Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company (semiconductors, Taiwan), SK Hynix (semiconductors, South Korea) and Samsung Electronics (semiconductors and consumer electronics, South Korea). By contrast, the positions Hon Kwok Land Investment (property development, Hong Kong), Great Eagle Holdings (property development/hotels, Hong Kong) and Prada (luxury goods, Italy), among others, had a negative impact. The fund management adjusted the fund's allocation over the course of the month: The overweight in the consumer goods sector was increased. The overweight was reduced in the retail, real estate, chemicals, travel & leisure and commodities sectors. The underweight was reduced in the technology, financial services, energy and healthcare sectors. At country level, the proportion of Japanese, Indian and South Korean stocks in particular rose, while the proportion of Chinese and Hong Kong stocks fell. As a result of the adjustments, the fund's equity allocation rose from 94.49% to 97.09%.
